GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Secretary Evarts and Family.

OMAHA, April 8—Hon Wm M Evarts secretary of state, arrived here in a morning special car over the Chicago Burlington & Quincy railroad. He has been called here by a dispatch from San Francisco announcing the serious illness of his son William who has been in China several years. He will reach here by to morrow afternoon's Union Pacific Express train, and will be met by his father, mother and young brother and probably by other relatives and friends

Later.

OMAHA, April 9—Hon William M Evarts secretary of state, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived here to day and met his invalid son William on his return from China. The party returned eastward on the evening train.

In an interview Mr Evarts said among other things that the great mass of the people were in sympathy with the administration, but that their sentiments were not represented through leading politicians in congress or through a majority of the press

A Church of State.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 9—The New England Methodist Conference, at Westfield adopted resolutions declaring it the duty of citizens, especially Christians to prevent the election of bad men to civil offices, deploring the corruption in society and prevalence of the communist and infidel sentiment, and denouncing the course of the government toward the African, Indian and Chinese to be full of injustice, bad faith and cruelty

Financial Interviews.

NEW YORK, April 9—Secretary Sherman this morning visited the sub-treasury had a long interview with Assistant Treasurer Hill. At 1 this P. M., a conference was begun between the secretary and a number of prominent bankers, some of whom had been invited to meet him. The meeting is strictly private. Its object is an interchange of views in regard to the financial condition of the country and the practicability of resuming specie payment by the 1st of January, 1879

The Ex-Governor in Duress.

NEW YORK, April 9—Ex-Governor Moses of South Carolina, arrested in this city on a charge of forgery, was before the supreme court to-day on a writ of habeas corpus and the case adjourned till to-morrow to give the district attorney time to make returns to the writ. The district attorney received a dispatch from Albany stating that Gov Robinson had granted a requisition, and an officer having the papers in charge was on the way to New York.

Important Decision.

TRENTON, April 1.—A judgment of considerable interest was rendered here yesterday in the United States circuit court. Robbins and Appleton, agents of the American watch company, brought suit against the People's fire insurance company, of Newark, to recover a loss sustained by plaintiffs at the great Bond street fire in New York a year ago. Over [illegible] of losses had been paid to them by other companies, but the People's insurance company and the Hamburg Bremen company which had a $15,000 risk, the Columbia company with a risk of $5,000, and the Fireman's company, of San Francisco, also having a [illegible] risk—all refused to settle. The only point at issue was as to whether or not the policies were contributing. The court, Judge Nixon, admitted all the testimony offered on this point, and the jury gave judgment for the full amount claimed, $42 741 82

A Bank Official Absconds.

[illegible], N. H., April 9—Hiram Weeks, of [illegible], Vt., a former director of the [illegible] national bank of that town is reported to have absconded, taking $43 000, [illegible] and borrowed funds.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Anti-Resumption Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The senate finance committee this morning discussed the house bill to repeal the specie resumption act, and will again consider the measure at a special meeting on Friday next.

Railway Mail Transportation.

The report of the special commission on railroad transportation was presented to both houses of congress. The committee recommend space and speed instead of weight as a basis of compensation reserving the privileges contended for by the postoffice department, and giving to the public better mail facilities than ever before

One Exception Made.

WASHINGTON, April 9—The house elections committee to-day agreed by a unanimous vote to dismiss the South Carolina contested election case of O'Connor, Dem against Cain, Rep., the sitting member Suppressing the Coolie Trade.

WASHINGTON, April 9—Secretary Thompson to-day issued his order to commanders of U. S. men-of-war in the South Pacific waters concerning the coolie trade. The order, after citing the laws upon which it is based, says: Whereas information has been communicated to the navy department by the officers in command of the North Pacific station that American ships and American masters of ships are now engaged in the coolie trade in violation of the laws quoted, that the wrecked American vessel H. N. Carlton has been recently discovered on the Island of Molokoi in the Pacific Ocean with about fifty Chinese on board over and above the number testified to by the U. S. consul at the port of her departure, and that two other American ships are reported to reach Honolulu with cargoes of Chinese under such circumstances as are calculated to create a reasonable belief that they are engaged in the coolie trade, therefore, by direction of the president, you are hereby instructed to employ any and all ships officers marines and seamen under your command to keep watch upon all vessels navigated or owned in whole or in part by citizens of the United States, or by foreigners residing in the United States, as you may have reasonable cause to believe to have on board any subjects of China, Japan, or other Oriental country known as coolies, and if, therefore, you shall find sufficient proof that such vessel or vessels so employed, you will cause her to be carried with her officers and crew, to the most convenient port or district in the United States and delivered to the U. S. marshal of said district to be dealt with according to law

Dakota Telegraph Bill.

The senate committee on military affairs agreed to recommend the passage of Spencer's bill appropriating $30,000 for a military telegraph from Deadwood to Fort Ellis, Montana embracing a line of military posts on the Yellowstone and Big Horn rivers

Pulling his Pet.

WASHINGTON, April 9—The house is in committee of the whole on the tariff bill and Wood, chairman of the committee on ways and means, is making a speech in explanation and advocacy of the bill

Blair's Bill to Quiet Title.

CHICAGO, April 9—The Journal's Washington special says Blair's Maryland legislature resolutions will be laid before both houses. Blair has a bill to introduce in the house to-morrow giving the supreme court jurisdiction on the subject.

Still Afraid of Old John Brown.

Southern Democrats are excited over a report that the state of Kansas will present congress a statue of John Brown to be placed in the national gallery.

Good-bye Ben.

The president to day nominated James C Tolman surveyor-general for Oregon

A Rush for a Dead Man's Shoes.

WASHINGTON, April 9—Republican members of the California delegation are already receiving an avalanche of telegraphic applications and recommendations in behalf of candidates for appointment for surveyor general for California who are taking time by the forelock. Senator Booth on Saturday received three dispatches simultaneously announcing the death of Surveyor General [illegible] and the other two making application to succeed him. Among the candidates the name of E A Robinson deputy surveyor general, is regarded by Booth and Sargent with the greatest favor but they have made no formal recommendations as yet. Alexander Wagner of Visalia is also an applicant. He is here urging his claims in person. He is personally acquainted with Secretary Schurz, has been a surveyor, was in the Union army and is a German, for all of which reasons his chances of appointment are considered especially good

Appointments to be Made.

The president and secretary of the interior in view of there being no probability of speedy action on the pending bill for the abolition of the surveyor generals office have concluded it will not be expedient to further postpone appointments to fill vacancies caused by death or expiration of commissions. Hence the nomination was sent to the senate to day of Tolman to succeed Simpson as surveyor general of Oregon and the vacancy caused by Ames' death will also be filled promptly

Mint Appropriations and Coinage.

The senate committee on appropriations to day inserted in the deficiency bill an item of $15 000 for contingent expenses of the San Francisco mint during the remainder of the current year. Linderman officially recommends it on the ground that the last year's appropriation is nearly exhausted and that it will be needed in order to continue the requisite amount of gold coinage and to make absolute necessary repairs at the annual settlement next June. He estimates the amount of gold coinage that the San Francisco mint will be called upon to execute during the remainder of the fiscal year at twelve million dollars. About twenty-seven and a half millions were coined during the current year besides 7 [illegible] 000 trade dollars and $3 710 000 in fractional silver. Nearly $101 000 was collected as coinage charge upon trade dollars thus manufactured

Another File for the C. P. and U. P. to Gnaw.

WASHINGTON, April 9—The house committee on Pacific railroads to-day directed Representative Chalmers to report to the house, with favorable recommendation a Pacific railroad funding bill, identical in its provisions with Thurman's bill now pending before the senate

Postal Cars.

WASHINGTON, April 9—The postal commission say the postal car is now a necessity for public business and generally demanded even at a greater cost than now

Items put in the Deficiency Bill.

Among the items added to the deficiency bill by the senate committee are for the expenses for observing the total solar eclipse July 29th $8 000, for Powell's survey of the Rocky Mountains $50 000. Hayden's survey maps and charts $20 000

The house deficiency appropriation for the subsistence of the army was increased by $300,000 addition—aggregate $180,000

Wood's Speech on the Tariff.

Wood, in his speech on the tariff bill presented the objections to the present tariff law and said the committee had not attempted to radically reform the manifold abuses of the existing system but to simplify the methods of assessing duties, avoiding ambiguities, etc looking to more liberal foreign commercial intercourse. The changes proposed were designed to found a permanent measure which should lop off complications existing in the present laws. All duties are made either ad valorem or specific, and the compound list is dropped. The bill comprises 570 articles, has no free list as such and levies an additional discriminating duty of 10 per cent upon merchandise coming from countries which discriminate against United States products. He believed an opportunity alone was necessary to show foreign nations that we can compete with them. The bill will reduce the cost of collecting the revenue 15 per cent. Another saving will be effected by consolidating collection districts; the saving in these two items is estimated at 20 per cent, or $1-300 000; the removal of the ambiguities of the present tariff and the easy and speedy liquidation of entries which will follow will increase importations so that the reduced rates will not cause a loss of revenue. Litigation in collecting duties will be averted and the consequent loss which is estimated now at 15 per cent will no longer be sustained. Losses by collusion and smuggling will materially decrease with the proposed forms

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

San Jose City Election.

SAN JOSE April 9—At the city election the Citizens ticket made a clean sweep by majorities ranging from 300 to 500 except for chief of police who was elected by the Workingmen by 158 majority owing to a split in the Citizens ticket and two councilmen. Election quite; vote heavy

Kearney and Archbishop Alemany.

SAN FRANCISCO April 9—Archbishop Alemany's pastoral letter has evidently created a flutter in the Kearney camp. In conversation with the arch agitator to day he stated that he had just called upon the archbishop with reference to the pastoral. The interview was by no means of a pacific nature. The archbishop plainly enunciated his hostility to the movement as conducted by Kearney and announced his intention of continuing the work of influencing Kearney's followers to forsake their allegiance to the lieutenant general and be guided by the counsels of their spiritual advisers. Kearney was equally uncompromising and roundly asserted his intention of continuing the course on which he had entered in defiance of the counsels or commands of the priesthood, press or any other man. "I talked to him like a Dutch uncle," said the lieutenant general. The breach seems irreparable, judging from the tone of the conversation maintained by Kearney who bluntly expressed the opinion that the archbishop was a d—d old fool."

The More Murder Trial.

SAN BUENAVENTURA April 9—Nothing new has been developed this morning in the murder trial. It is pretty certain that Cook and Swanson will be discharged at the close of the examination as the only evidence against them is Sprague's assertion previous to the murder. He appears to have used several names unauthorized in endeavoring to persuade others into it. The other six will almost certainly be held to answer. Hickerson, one of the main witnesses is slowly dying. Evidence is direct that the empty cartridge found at the scene of the murder would only fit [illegible] gun, the only needle gun in that section of country. Mr Harris detective who made the arrest leaves to morrow as it is expected the evidence for the prosecution will close to night. It is believed that the defense will be reserved except as to Cook and Swanson.

In the trial to day W H Wet[illegible] H N Hunt and N Stone were examined. [illegible] is one of those who stood guard to protect Sprague against an expected mob on the night after the murder and his evidence of conversations is important [illegible] Hunt. It is pretty certain that another arrest will be made to morrow, the facts connected with which will afford direct testimony corroborating the hearsay evidence hitherto produced

Imperial Assessed.

SAN FRANCISCO April 9—Imperial to day levied an assessment of twenty [illegible] cents

CANADA.

Canadian Parliament.

TORONTO April 9—The house of commons rejected a resolution to impose a duty upon flour and wheat imported into Canada. The vote was 28 ayes 14 nays

CONGRESSIONAL.

House.

WASHINGTON April 9

[illegible] by Rep Butler [illegible] regular order [illegible] business [illegible] that matter you were organizing your house in [illegible] [illegible] honor that glorious charge at Cerro Gordo. He is here for your [illegible] [illegible] him on account of the wound which he received from Stonewall Jackson's brigade, you can stand by him on account of the copper bullet which he received from the Mexicans. I say when such a man is presented to you do not try to strike him down

Eden—Did the gentleman make any complaint against the appointment of Gen Longstreet to an important office by Gen Grant

Butler—I made no objection to his appointment and I do not know that there was any one named who was seeking for the same office at the same time

Eden—Does not the gentleman from Massachusetts know that Gen Shields is not seeking this office now?

Butler—I thank God that he is not but let me say further as to Gen Longstreet. He has repented for more than two months [Shouting laughter on the Democratic side]

Eden—His repentance I suppose consisted in his joining your party. If a confederate general joins your party he is fit for office but so long as he remains with the Democratic party he is unfit

Butler—Pardon me. I never knew that General Longstreet had joined our party. I do not care whether he did or not. He not only repented but gave works meet for repentance [laughter] More than that, I have lived too long (my friend from New York said the other day that I was growing old) when I have lived to hear in a house of representatives of the American congress the fact that a man repented of his treason to his country sneered at and coughed down

Clymer said the immediate business before the house is the election of a doorkeeper to fill the responsible duties connected with that office. Our experience in the past has not been fortunate and we are here to endeavor to repair past misfortunes. The gentleman from Massachusetts would have us elect a person of his choosing. I will join with him in doing all honor to the man who has served in two wars, who was senator from two states and who in every relation of life has performed his duties faithfully and well

Senate.

Blaine offered his amendment to the 12th section of the Pacific railroad sinking fund bill striking out the words "reserving the right to alter, amend or repeal" and insert "but so long as said Central Pacific and Union Pacific R. R. Co's faithfully comply with the provisions of said acts of '62 and '64 this act relating to payments to the United States on account of bonds advanced and of sinking fund to be established as aforesaid such compliance shall be deemed and taken as sufficient to meet the obligations of said companies on account of such bonds prior to the maturity thereof"

A debate ensued between Blaine, Sargent, Bayard and Thurman

After debate senate went into executive session and when the doors reopened adjourned

Senate.

WASHINGTON April 9

Morrill reported from the finance committee a bill to repair and put in operation the mint at New Orleans. Placed on the calendar

Morrill said it was the opinion of the committee that this would afford all the additional mint facilities

The general deficiency bill was reported and placed on the calendar

At the expiration of the morning hour unfinished business the Pacific railroad funding bill was considered

Edmunds advocated the bill of the judiciary committee

Edmunds dissented from Hill and Matthews as to the constitutionality of the proposed legislation. If corporations broke down legislation the people might demand that impartial men take control of affairs. If it was proposed to tie the hands of the administrative power for nearly a generation 22 years, and prevent changes in the modes of procedure which changing circumstances would demand, foreign stockholders might acquire and bedevil the road so there would be no net earnings. Interest on first mortgage bonds would not be paid and all would depreciate in value. Yet Blaine supposing everybody honest as himself would allow himself to be put in a bag and in the custody of the U P R R

A dispute arose between Blaine and Edmunds as to whether the latter had reference to Jay Gould

Blaine, to obviate Edmunds objection proposed to amend his amendment by providing that the annual amount paid in addition to the net earnings half transportation shall never be less than $600 000 and nothing herein contained shall waive any existing claim of the government against the road

Voorhees advocated Blaine's amendment. He hoped if this bill were not acceptable that the judiciary committee should prepare one which would be a finality

Motion to adjourn by Patterson—nays 36 yeas 23—lost

Thurman closing the debate Blaine's amendment was voted on. Ayes [illegible] nays [illegible]

Ferry introduced a bill regulating compensation to railroads for mail transportation. Referred

The senate passed a bill providing a code of army regulations

Thurman's amendment, providing for the endorsement of the sinking fund bonds by the secretary of the treasury was then adopted

Sargent and Chaffee stating that it was evident that all amendments to the bill were to be voted down withdrew their respective amendments

The question then recurred upon the passage of the bill on which the vote was ayes 40, nays 19

The vote in detail was as follows

Ayes—Anthony Armstrong Bailey Bayard Beck, Booth Burnside Butler Christiancy Cockrell Coke Davis of Illinois Davis of West Virginia Edmunds Eustis Garland Grover Harris Hereford Johnston Jones of Florida Kernan Lamar McCreery McDonald McPherson Maxey Merrimon Morgan Oglesby Patterson Plumb, Ransom Rollins Saulsbury Thurman, Voorhees Wadleigh Wallace and Windom—40

Nays—Allison Barnum Blaine Bruce, Conover Dennis Dorsey Eaton Ferry Gordon Hill Kellogg Matthews Mitchell, Paddock Randolph Sargent Saunders and Spencer—19

On motion of McCreery the senate took up the bill repealing the bankrupt act and pending its consideration the senate adjourned

House.

Buckner chairman of the committee on banking and currency reported a bill providing for the issue of $322 790 [illegible] of treasury notes for the retirement of national bank notes which are to be received in payment of customs duties

Wright offered a concurrent resolution proposing to issue $400 000 000 U S notes to be known as national money. It recites at length the present business distress throughout the country and directs the issue of $400 000 000 U S notes to be a legal tender for all debts public and private to be placed in circulation at the earliest possible moment. Referred

Wright asked to have the resolution printed in the Record but it was objected to by Townsend who said workingmen could not afford to pay for printing the stump speeches of gentlemen

Durham from conference committee on the bill for the employment of temporary clerks in the treasury reported that the committee disagreed on the item inserted by the senate appropriating $[illegible] 000 for a postal clerk

Blount one of the conferees, defended the action of the house committee and argued that the deficiency in the postoffice department grew out of the postal car system which was one of the hobbies of the postoffice department and that the house should not yield in that matter but stand by the committee's appropriations

After some discussion the report was agreed to and a new conference committee ordered

Wood moved the house go into committee of the whole for consideration of the tariff bill and asked unanimous consent that a time be fixed for terminating general debate upon the bill

Kelly objected to limited debate upon one of the most intricate and vitally important bills

Wood withdrew his request for limited debate

House went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill

Wood made a long speech in advocacy of the bill

Wood refused to yield to Conger who called time on him but the speaker ruled that Wood might go on and he spoke a second hour warning the people that sterner measures might be adopted if this failed

The committee rose and the house adjourned

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Debate on the Eastern Question in the House of Lords.

LONDON April 9—In the house of lords this afternoon [illegible] held in respect to the [illegible] past policy continued the treaty of San Stefano, having conclusions similar to those contained in Lord Salisbury's dispatch. Although every article of the treaty was a deviation from the treaties of 1856 and 1871 he would not call them violations of [illegible] had they been considered at the congress as England desired they might have been regarded as suggestions. He showed that the possession of Bessarabia was not a trifling local interest. Lord Palmerston had strongly insisted upon its cession to Roumania as involving the independent navigation of the Danube. The congress could not take place after Russia's refusal to conform to her previous engagements and to the treaty of Paris. He pointed out various ways in which the existing situation imperiled the British empire. The Egyptians once threatened Constantinople. There was consequently no reason why Russia might not march to the Suez Canal. He could not conceive why England should be unarmed when all other powers were arming. The British empire must not only be enjoined but maintained

Lord Granville criticised the details of the government's past policy but declared he would not commit himself or his friends on the present question but leave the government to their own responsibility. Upon a general review of the situation he drew conclusions favorable to peace

Derby denied that calling out the reserves was the sole or principal cause of his difference with his late colleagues. Matters at present were at a deadlock, where neither side would give way for fear of loss of dignity. He would not press matters and increase groundless irritation. He denied the existence of the emergency justified calling out the reserves. The only conceivable motive for haste of which however he would not accuse the government was to take advantage of the war feeling in the country. Even an Austrian alliance was very doubtful and all the other powers were certain to stand aloof. Why under these circumstances should England be not drifting but rushing into purposeless war? He admitted circumstances might force England into war but at present he could see no ground therefor

Lord Cairns said the smallness of the increase of the army did not justify Lord Derby's inferences

Seeking a Loan.

LONDON April 9—The house of Mendelssohn was in Paris yesterday seeking co-operation of Paris houses concerned in last year's Russian loan to place about 300 000 000 francs more but was unsuccessful

Distinctly Pro-Russian.

The drift of news from Constantinople is again distinctly pro-Russian. New objections have been taken by the Turks against Russian military movement. Russian garrisons have relieved Roumanians at Widdin, Nickopolis and Rhova, and the Russians now hold the Danube from its mouth to the Servian frontier

Preparing for Defense.

CONSTANTINOPLE April 9—The Russians are completing fortifications begun by the Turks at Schekmedja and Serkos. Fresh purchases of arms are being made by the Turkish war office

Diplomatic Strategy.

LONDON April 9—A report is current in Vienna that Prince Gortschakoff has notified Austria he has postponed his answer to her demands until England formulates her counter proposals so that he may be able to reply to Austria and England simultaneously.

Germano-Russian Relations.

BERLIN April 9—Notwithstanding the favorable reports in the press there is reason to believe Bratiano, Roumanian premier is dissatisfied with the results of his visit here. Germany declined to use direct pressure upon Russia for the withdrawal of her claim to Bessarabia. The government has advised Bratiano to lay his case before the czar and endeavor to come to terms by amicable arrangements

The Congress off Again.

VIENNA April 9—The official Werner Abend Post states that by ministerial declarations made last night in the British parliament the prospects of the assembling of the congress are again thrown into the background

GORHAM ON REPUBLICANISM

The Secretary of the Senate Promulgates the Rudiments of Republicanism—The President and the Cabinet—Gorham don't want any Loaves and Fishes—He would sooner take a whole bakery and a School of Whales

WASHINGTON April 9—Secretary Geo C Gorham published a letter to day in reply to the Times' statements concerning the position taken by him at a recent meeting of the national Republican committee. It is a strong appeal to the radical element of the Republican party accompanied with very distinct intimations of doubt whether that element will aid in any contest in which their views are not represented. The letter fills two columns of the National Republican and has attracted considerable attention. The Republican gives it the heading of "Republican Rudiments" and editorially comments upon it as a very entertaining discourse. Referring to the assertion that he made bitter and hostile speech against President Hayes, Gorham says:

I expressly stated my opinion that it would be better to affirm Republican doctrines and denounce the crimes of the enemy than it would to arraign the administration for any acts committed or omitted. I did not even propose that the party should in terms disavow the acts of the administration towards Louisiana or South Carolina but that we ought to affirm the righteousness and constitutionality of the reconstruction policy of the party and to insist that its failure was due to a deliberate plan by southern Democrats and not to the wickedness of the southern Republicans, that those who had sustained the laws were better and worthier political associates than those who had rebelled against and trampled them under foot

He reviews the presidential campaigns of 1872 and 1876 and claims that their successful issues were the Republican party's and the nation's vindication of the repressive policy of the south and was due to the fact that they fought on what is derisively termed the bloody shirt argument. He declines to discuss the policy of the president but suggests a platform for the coming campaign as follows:

What has been done cannot be undone but the laws of the land have not changed nor can their enforcement ever be properly a question of policy. If resistance is successful this does not elevate the law breakers to respectability nor prevent law abiding people from continuing in their good opinion of the law

At the late meeting says he I simply took the above position. It is preposterous to think of holding the Republican party together by agreeing that it has no longer any doctrines which can be safely uttered in Republican platforms. Is it warring upon the president to say that the laws should be obeyed and that to deny the citizen his lawful right to vote is a crime against our system of government and is it not better to say the truth that this rule is uniformly reversed in the lately rebellious states and that a Pole in Russia, Alsatian in Germany or Fenian in England may more freely and safely utter his sentiments than can a true Republican in the southern states of free America? Is it extreme to contend that obligations to furnish protection to the state government against insurrection when constitutionally called upon is imposed upon the president by the constitution which forbids him to leave undecided which is the government and which the insurrection and also forbids him to leave the state and the insurrection to fight it out between themselves? Is it opening anew the old controversy to declare that the Democratic hopes of national control are based upon law breaking as a policy and that nine southern states now held in chains by the Democratic party would be Republican if the legal voters were allowed to vote? May not Republicans arouse the north to these things without antagonizing the administration?

He thinks this alone can arouse the old enthusiasm of the Republican masses and as for a few hundred recruits who may have followed Schurz and Key and Evarts from the liberal confederate and Johnson camps, they are sure to rally for they are already near the commissary store. The loaves and fishes will suffice for camp followers, but the army of millions of Republicans must have a cause to contend for. The Republican party he says was not organized to distribute clerkships. That gigantic task will be entrusted to self styled self-regulating self chosen, self loving self righteous and self eulogizing civil service reformers. Concerning the relations of the Hayes administration to the Republican party, Gorham characteristically writes as follows:

This administration will only be regarded as Republican in my judgment upon the understanding that the presence of Mr Evarts in the cabinet is not an endorsement of the policy of Andrew Johnson, that General Devens was not appointed attorney general because there was any special moral in his having been a Democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts against John A. Andrew in 1862, that Mr Key is a monument of Yankee forbearance and not a burning and a shining light after this play, that Carl Schurz is a pardoned if not a repentant, prodigal and not the token of presidential vindication of the infamous mud campaign of 1872 and upon further understanding that our party cannot offend the president by demanding in its platform obedience to the constitution and the laws, or by denouncing the crimes of the Democratic party in organizing violent resistance to both. If my view is wrong, if there is to be a milk diet then I much fear the babes only will seek nourishment from it

PACIFIC RAILWAY FUNDING BILL

Sargent's Plea for the Great Monopoly

WASHINGTON April 8—Senator Sargent resumed to day his remarks on the Pacific railway funding bill. He said a principal object of the original legislation was to secure cheaper transportation for mails and supplies. This object had been attained and about three million dollars per annum less cost to the treasury had resulted over and above all interest on the bonds. Besides that we had obtained security against Indian wars in the center of the continent, rapid communication and great commercial benefits. He showed in answer to Bayard that congress originally understood that the interest was not to be paid until maturity of the bonds and an amendment to make it payable by the companies as it was paid by the government was voted down in the house after full discussion

In reply to Thurman he showed that the present moneyed value of the debt owed by companies under the decision of the supreme court that the interest payable at maturity is $39 7[illegible]0 000. Compounding the interest at six per cent per annum the present payment of that sum would extinguish it. The difference was the aid promised to the companies by means of which the government expected to realize, and did realize a saving of three millions annually. The theory of the legislation was that a substantial boon was to be given to these companies to make them to surmount what were admitted to be enormous difficulties and to overcome the lethargy of capitalists. He thought the legislation of '64 which doubled the land grant and released half the compensation for transportation was unnecessary then and did not believe he would have assented to it if he had been in congress at that time. The only inference he drew from the saving the road had caused the treasury was that it should be conceded that the road had been advantageous to the companies and the government. He thought a sinking fund of adequate character should be secured and a prospect of congressional hostility and of endless litigation would induce the companies to assent to whatever comports with the wants of government which require not only the repayment of principal and interest but maintenance of a first class road. He believed the building and operating of the road had been profitable. Out of these profits the companies should pay an adequate annual sum to put the debt in course of ultimate extinction. By as plain a stipulation as any in the contract congress provided that it would not reduce rates of travel and transportation unless the profits of the corporations exceeded 10 per cent annually. In view of that provision Pacific commerce is likely to be beyond the relief of congress, when to present demands are added several millions of annual payments to the national treasury which must soon exhaust any previous accumulation of profits and become a serious charge on transportation of freights and passengers. He said on behalf of the people of the Pacific and of the territories traversed by the road: I protest that under the claim protecting the government you should not impose too heavy burdens on this commerce. Through business may go by the Isthmus but local traffic cannot help itself and will be crushed down. The shipment of low grade ores, the running of slightly productive mines, and general prosperity will be stopped from the enhanced cost of transportation of machinery and supplies. All the states get the benefit of reduced cost of government transportation and should help to bear the burden instead of imposing it on the far west until the development of the interior calls into existence the populous communities that will exist by the time the bonds mature. California has but one eightieth of the population, and two and three-fifths of the property of the United States and should not bear the load of what is in effect a direct tax on its commerce. Ultimate security and not rapid payment should be looked to. While he so believed he did not think the railroad committee bill correct in theory. The government should not be required to pay interest on its own money by putting its half of the compensation for transportation and the five per cent net earnings into a sinking fund but either should go into a sinking fund to be added to a reasonable annual sum to be paid by the companies on which interest should be allowed at 6 per cent with semi annual rests. This was just to both parties and ensured a road well maintained not a burden rather a blessing to Pacific commerce

Clackamas County Resolutions.

Resolutions adopted by the Republican County Convention held at Oregon City April 6th 1878 and a copy ordered sent to THE OREGONIAN

Resolved That we, the Republicans of Clackamas county have entire confidence in the wisdom and integrity of the national administration and will give it our cordial support in all its efforts to purify the government and to allay dissensions in the different sections of the country

Resolved, That we favor such amendments of the laws of the state as will equalize taxation and lessen the expenses of the county and state governments, and to this end we oppose the exemption of any property from taxation and that when indebtedness is deducted the party shall be required to give the names of his creditors

Resolved That we favor a law limiting the pay of clerks and sheriffs of the respective counties to fixed amounts, and that all excess of fees over such amounts be paid into the county treasury

Resolved That we disfavor the building of a court house until such time as it may be done without leaving the county largely in debt

Resolved That we favor the submission to the voters of the state a constitutional amendment providing that the public printing be let to the lowest bidder

Resolved That it is the judgment of this convention that the assessing can be more accurately and cheaply done by precinct assessors. We, therefore favor a law providing for this mode of assessing

Resolved That the public interest is of paramount importance and that corporations and monopolies should be limited by prudent legislation

Resolved, That we favor such legislation by congress as shall tend to restrict the immigration of Chinese

A Divine Punishment

The Chicago Drovers Journal tells this tale of retribution. Two Germans fresh from Chicago visited New York and one well acquainted with the city invited his friend to dine at Delmonico's where a dinner for two and a bottle of wine were ordered. The place and fare were praised until the bill of $11 was presented. This they considered an extortion. They paid however and while walking down Broadway the excited German commenced to swear at the supposed extortion. His friend then said "Do not shwear Yawcob. It is wicked to shwear. Got has punished dot man Delmonico. How I have mine pocket full mit spoons"

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION

The state Democratic convention meets to-day under less favorable circumstances than for several years. From 1865 to 18 the state was unquestionably Democratic. In 1866 the Republicans carried it, but by very small majorities. Two years later chiefly in consequence of a preponderance of Democrats in the immigration the state unexpectedly to many threw a heavy Democratic majority. Both branches of the legislature were carried by that party. In 1870 though great effort was made by the Republicans to recover the state, it again went strongly against them. This election put the Democratic party in full control of the state government. One of the consequences was much partisan legislation of which there has been just complaint. The election of 1872 was a default for the Democrats of Oregon because they were demoralized by the domination of Greeley but there was no general election that year and they retained their control of the state, except one branch of the legislature. In 1874 they again carried all the state officers with a single unimportant exception and in 1876 they once more had both branches of the assembly. They approached the presidential election of November, 1876 with full confidence of winning the electoral vote of the state. Republicans were not at all sure of carrying the state, and at best could figure on but a small majority. The result was a surprise to both parties. By a strong majority of the largest vote ever thrown it was demonstrated that the state was again Republican. The later immigration it was found had favored that party quite as much as the former one had favored the Democrats. The probability is admitted by careful observers of both parties at least by such as are candid enough to express their convictions, that Republicans have continued to gain by the immigration since 1876. It can hardly be questioned, therefore, that the sentiment of a majority of the voters of Oregon at this time is Republican. We have not the slightest doubt that such would be found the case were there national issues to combine the vote and bring it out. How far it will be affected by indifference and by local questions or divisions cannot be told, but perhaps to no great extent. The state now contains several thousand voters more than in 1876, and each party will be likely to increase its vote over that of the presidential election of that year.

Again, the greenback question creates a serious division in the Democratic ranks. The adherents of the greenback party are thoroughly in earnest. Two years ago it was proven that not even the great pressure of a presidential election could induce them to abandon their theory and come back to the party from which their numbers are mainly drawn. It is not probable that they will see anything in the coming state election so urgent as to demand of them a sacrifice of their position and a return to the Democratic party. It is likely they will throw a thousand votes, and perhaps even two or three times that number. Nine tenths of them are men of Democratic antecedents. It is a defection at a critical time, which the Democratic party can ill afford, but it is a legitimate consequence of the teachings of a certain class of Democratic leaders, who have propagated false ideas in regard to currency, finance and the national debt, and now they see one of the results in a bolt from their party organized to carry out the doctrines thus inconsiderately taught.

Moreover the Democratic party of the state during its long lease of power has not made an unexceptionable record. It has multiplied offices and increased salaries. Expense of every department of the state government has been greatly increased in some cases in defiance of constitutional limitation. During ten years much has been done purely for partisan objects. The best friend of the party could scarcely claim that it has made judicious use of its power. Its management of state lands and educational funds has not been satisfactory to the people. There is quite a heavy debt, which would not exist had there been a prudent management of the affairs of the state. It would be idle for any party in such a situation to expect to escape criticism and a call to answer for its acts. These are some of the reasons why the state Democratic convention does not meet to-day under circumstances so favorable to victory for that party as on former occasions for some years past. Yet after all much depends on the character of the nominations which the two parties shall make.

IMMINENCE OF WAR.

If it be not Russia's intention to make the most of her present opportunities and do her work thoroughly it is impossible to conceive why she is hastening with so eager and earnest a purpose to occupy all the strong and important positions of which her rare fortune enables her to possess herself. Possession is nine points in law, and fully as many in war. It is difficult to account for Russia's action on any theory except that she intends to hold her present advantages and hazard a war with England, and if necessary also with Austria, to maintain them. To guard against a possible attack by Austria on their line of communication, Russian troops north of the Danube have been moved up to the passes of the Carpathian mountains, which are being fortified at all the best points of defense. Again, every fortress on the Danube is occupied by Russian troops, and many of them are so strong that the Turks have been able through all wars to hold them. About Constantinople movements are being made which plainly indicate that in case of war Russia will defend that city instead of attacking it. With these enormous advantages in her hands, now would seem to be her time, and a careful study of her movements enforces the conviction that if she is not bent on precipitating war she is preparing to challenge it with full expectation that the challenge will be accepted. On the other hand it is entirely apparent that England is resolved to fight rather than see her vital interests menaced and destroyed. This she will do whether she gets the help of Austria or not. The war sentiment of her people has been [illegible] almost unanimous and [illegible] war are constantly going on. Russia's [illegible] is to maintain her position and advantages [illegible] her movements [illegible] nothing.

THE BILL PASSED.

By a strong majority the senate has passed the judiciary committee bill. At last it is to be forced that the great railway corporations shall make provision to pay their debts out of their overflowing millions. This is a most important vote. Senator Grover it will be observed was on the right side. Now that it is demonstrated that the [illegible] ring and lobby do not control the senate let us hope that the Northern Pacific extension bill will pass. The efforts which have been put forth to prevent it, through pretended amendments, are but the other half of this great scheme for the protection of the present monopoly. By the eastern press universally the matter is regarded in this light. The two measures of the great corporations were to defeat the judiciary committee's bill and load down the Northern Pacific's extension with a series of impossible conditions which would have the effect to kill it. The one effort has been defeated and the northwest which wants a railroad trusts the other will be. The success of the judiciary committee's bill gives great hope of the Northern Pacific notwithstanding Mitchell's opposition.

Certain curious notes or memoranda are printed in the Standard. It states that they are written on sheets headed, Office of the custodian of the U S custom house Portland, also that the handwriting is that of Mr John Kelly, collector of customs. The notes the Standard says are evidently prepared for the purpose of answering some letter from Mitchell. How they came into possession of that paper it does not tell us but it vouches for their genuineness. The details of the information they convey are however sufficient proof of their authenticity. It is evident that the status of the legislature in respect to Mitchell is the subject that most largely occupies the writer's mind. Incidental to it is the question who is to be governor. There is dalliance with the working men's organization of Portland, or one branch of it; hints are dropped of an understanding with certain Democrats to be fulfilled in case of contingency; fears are expressed of danger from certain quarters, and the statement is emphasized that funds are wanted. All this activity in trying to "set up things" for Mitchell will probably be effort wasted. The senator will not be re-elected. It is proper to remark that this little matter indicates very plainly the necessity of another proclamation from Washington advising officials to attend to their duties and warning them not to interfere in politics.

Though the Union Sentinel admits that it suspected from the first, and even believed, that the course taken by Senator Mitchell on the railroad question was a piece of "trickery," it could not boldly assert that such was the case, lest the charge should be made that it was opposing the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake railroad. That comes of not being an independent newspaper, with courage to assert what is seen to be true. A journal enslaved to petty fears is not likely to pursue a consistent course. Hence the Sentinel, though it applauded Mitchell at the outset of this business, now turns on him with most vituperative attacks. It admits that it hadn't courage to take a proper course at the beginning and now it takes another course mainly because partisanship requires it.

George Gorham, machine politician and secretary of the senate, unmuzzles his wisdom on the policy of the administration and the future of the Republican party. It is men like Gorham who have discounted the Republican future. Retribution for him, though slow to come, is coming at last. Within a few months he will be dropped out of the position he has long held and into oblivion. The party will not rebuild on its Gorhams. What he says therefore is of no account.

Our Democratic brethren will hardly fail to-day to denounce the electoral commission in fitting terms. It may not electrify the country, but it will encourage Montgomery Blair and do Tilden a great deal of good. No one therefore should be so churlish as to object. Uncle Sammy is a little depressed. Cheer him up. Give the old man a chance.

By the house committee on Pacific railroads the bill of the senate's judiciary committee to enforce an accounting by the Pacific roads and gradual payment of their debts, has been unanimously reported. It may be expected that the house will put the bill through. It is too numerous a body to fall under Jay Gould's peculiar influences, which are so potent in the senate.

Were it known that Hon J S Smith would accept the Democratic nomination for the governorship it probably would be tendered him by acclamation. But before leaving the state some weeks ago he positively declined to allow the use of his name. His friends say there is no reason to suppose that he would reconsider it.

Gov. Whiteaker probably will be nominated for congress. This would not take him out of the state senate till after the next session of the legislature. He would be nominated for the governorship were it not that his vote on U S senator would thereby be lost to his party. That sure vote they don't propose to lose.

In California the overflow of mining debris or tailings on valley lands has wrought damages so great that the legislature has made an earnest attempt to provide a remedy. An appropriation of $100,000 has been made for a thorough investigation and report upon the subject.

Reading the full report of Stanley Matthews' speech on the Pacific railroad funding bill we find that he thought it necessary to state that he had not been retained by the companies. The explanation is pertinent.

W W Thayer was generally talked of last night as Democratic candidate for governor. The friends of A H Brown were claiming that he had a sure thing on a re-nomination for the office of state treasurer.

Mr Tolman, of Jackson, is to be surveyor general—if the senate confirm him. Our friend Simpson, we cannot suppose will be dropped from the pay roll. Doubtless he will be promoted.

Bank Matters in New York.

[Letter to Cincinnati Gazette.]

The decline in the value of government bonds and also the large quantity of protested paper, is doing much to impair the value of bank stock. Such a marked decline, indeed, cannot escape notice. The City Bank for instance which last year was in demand at 300 is now quoted at nearly one-third less. This is Moses Taylor's pet bank and stood next to the Chemical in value. The Park Bank which last year was sold readily at one hundred and fifty is now down to [illegible]. It had for several years divided 12 per cent per annum but will now do well to equal one half that rate. The Continental which [illegible] is down to [illegible] The [illegible] old Wall [illegible] North [illegible] which [illegible] of the [illegible] The Merchants [illegible] the decline in assets which follows the general law of shrinkage. The stopping of dividends will be severely felt by a large class [illegible] who have considered bank stock the most desirable kind of investment. There will be no new banks in this city for many years to come.

A German paper gives a test for watered milk which is simplicity itself. A well polished knitting needle is dipped into a deep vessel of milk and immediately withdrawn in upright position. If the sample is pure some of the fluid will hang to the needle; but if water has been added to the milk even in small proportions the fluid will not adhere to the needle.

WEDNESDAY MORNING APRIL 10 1878

RAILROAD [illegible].—Last evening about 25 minutes past 4 o'clock the south bound express train met with quite a serious accident a few miles above East Portland. When the train drew out from the depot it was behind time and the engineer Johnny Brandt let his engine out to make up for lost time. The train reached the car shops in safety and after a few minutes delay sped along up the track. Wills [illegible] flag station a short distance above the machine shops was reached next without accident. It was after leaving that station that the [illegible] mishap befel the train. The train was speeding along at the rate of about 10 miles an hour when a horse, which had taken fright at the noise of the approaching cars, sprang from the brush and attempted to cross the track just ahead of the locomotive. Before it was possible to call for brakes or check the speed of the train the engine struck the animal. So violent was the collision that the locomotive and tender were thrown from the track and capsized. The caboose and one of the passenger cars were also thrown from the track but not damaged much. The last passenger coach did not leave the track at all. Johnny Brandt the engineer was tossed out of the cab by the violent fetch up and also the fireman Fred Bogart. Brandt was considerably bruised but did not receive any cuts. His injuries are thought to be of an internal character, but it is hoped they are not dangerous. Bogart received a deep gash on his left leg just above the knee and a few slight bruises. No one else on the train received the slightest injury although the sudden stoppage caused the passengers to change seats with more haste than politeness. As soon as the train stopped, several of the passengers ran forward to the assistance of Brandt and Bogart, who were stunned by the violent concussion. They were carefully borne to a house near by and the dirt washed off. Fortunately a physician happened to be on board the train, who rendered all necessary medical assistance. News of the disaster was telegraphed back to the machine shop and soon a locomotive arrived at the scene. The engine was hitched on to the last coach, which had not been thrown from the track, and all the passengers and the two injured men were brought down to the east side depot. The ditched locomotive is said to be badly wrecked, and the horse, which was the cause of all the trouble, was dreadfully mangled. The track was also torn up for a short distance and things generally demoralized. A force of men at once commenced to clear away the wreck and to right the capsized locomotive. Everything will be clear so that the train this morning will not be detained. It was lucky that the train was moving at a moderate speed. Had it been running at the usual speed the collision would have been far more disastrous.

WHO MARRIED THEM?—Monday, a marriage notice was left at THE OREGONIAN business office, in which it was stated that Mr. David P Cresswell and Miss Jennie Slack had been united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev Father Fierens on the 4th of April. The notice was paid for at the counter like any other and published. It turns out that Father Fierens did not perform the ceremony as stated in the notice, it being contrary to the established rules of the Catholic church to solemnize nuptials except by special dispensation, during Lent. On ascertaining that Father Fierens denied having united the persons mentioned, in marriage, we took the trouble to consult the records at the county clerk's office to determine whether or not a certificate had been issued. The records show that a marriage license had been issued to D P Cresswell and Miss J Slack on the 4th inst. As the return certificate required by law had not been made, it was impossible to ascertain who had married the couple. Whether the name of Father Fierens was given through inadvertence or with the intention to mislead the public, we do not assume to affirm. The above statement of the facts is made with the object that justice may be done all parties concerned.

SHOULD VISIT PORTLAND.—Mr. Denman Thompson, supported by a large and efficient company, has been playing several weeks in San Francisco. His engagement has been a very successful one, large audiences attending nightly the performances. Mr Thompson is starring in a piece called "Joshua Whitcomb," wherein he personates the character of an old Yankee farmer. The piece is spoken of in terms of praise not only by the press of California, but also in many of the leading eastern journals. Many of the papers affirm that as a faithful delineator of eccentric Yankee character Mr Thompson is much superior to John E Owens. We understand that Mr Thompson is thinking favorably of making a professional visit to Portland at the conclusion of his engagement in San Francisco. He is supported by his own company, consisting of sixteen persons. Theater goers will be gratified to learn of Mr Thompson's probable intention to visit this city. If proper inducements be offered he may be convinced. He is said to be a genial gentleman and finished actor, and will not disappoint the lovers of drama here.

A WAYWARD GIRL.—A young girl about 15 years of age was found wandering about the streets Monday evening and was taken in charge by the police and conducted to the station. The girl had been employed in a very respectable family in this city until quite recently when she was dismissed for conduct. She went to a certain hotel, but the proprietor, on learning of the circumstances of the case refused to admit her. After being turned away from the hotel the girl wandered about the streets until taken in charge by an officer. Lodging was furnished her at the station and yesterday morning she was provided with temporary quarters. We are informed that the parents of this foolish young woman reside in Yamhill county. They have been informed by the chief of the course of their daughter and will no doubt send for her at once. Names of parties are suppressed for obvious reasons.

WILLAMETTE OAK GROVE.—Mr Kaiser, of the City View Farm is now making some important improvements to the Willamette Oak Grove a very handsome picnic ground situated a short distance above this city. Among other improvements, the dancing platform will be enlarged and covered with canvas so that dancing may be kept up through the sunshine or rain. A number of swings will be put up and among other gymnastic apparatus erected. It is Mr Kaiser's intention to make these grounds very handsome and a desirable and attractive place for holding excursions and picnics from this city. No pains will be spared in improving and beautifying the grove. During the coming picnic season these grounds promise to become a very popular resort.

CITY.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT —Last evening about 15 minutes past 4 o clock the south bound express train met with quite a serious accident a few miles above East Portland When the train drew out from the depot it was behind time, and the engineer Johnny Brandt had his engine out to make up for lost time. The train reached the car shops in safety and after a few moments delay sped along to the Willsburg, a flag station a short distance above the machine shops was reached without accident It was after leaving that station that the mishap befel the train. The train was speeding along at the rate of about 10 miles an hour when a horse which had taken fright at the noise of the approaching cars, sprang from the brush and attempted to cross the track just ahead of the locomotive. Before it was possible to call for brakes or check the speed of the train the engine struck the animal So violent was the collision that the locomotive and tender were thrown from the track and capsized The caboose and one of the passenger cars were also thrown from the track but not damaged much The last passenger coach did not leave the track at all Johnny Brandt, the engineer, was tossed out of the cab by the violent ·etch up and also the fireman, Fred Bogar. Brandt was considerably hurt but did not receive any cuts His injuries are thought to be of an internal character, but it is hoped they are not dangerous. Bogart received a deep gash on his left leg just above the knee and a few slight bruises. No one else on the train received the slightest injury, although the sudden stoppage caused the passengers to change seats with more haste than politeness As soon as the train stopped, several of the passengers ran forward to the assistance of Brandt and Bogart who were stunned by the violent concussion They were carefully borne to a house near by and the dirt washed off Fortunately a physician happened to be on board the train who rendered all necessary medical assistance News of the disaster was telegraphed back to the machine shop, and soon a locomotive arrived at the scene. The engine was hitched on to the last coach, which had not been thrown from the track, and all the passengers and the two injured men were brought down to the east side depot The wrecked locomotive is said to be badly wrecked, and the horse, which was the cause of all the trouble, was dreadfully mangled The track was also torn up for a short distance, and things generally demoralized A force of men at once commenced to clear away the wreck and to right the capsized locomotive. Everything will be clear so that the train this morning will not be detained It was lucky that the train was moving at a moderate speed. Had it been running at the usual speed the collision would have been far more disastrous.

WHO MARRIED THEM?—Monday a marriage notice was left at THE OREGONIAN business office, in which it was stated that Mr David P. Cresswell and Miss Jennie Slack had been united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. Father Fierens on the 4th of April. The notice was paid for at the counter like any other and published It turns out that Father Fierens did not perform the ceremony as stated in the notice, it being contrary to the established rules of the Catholic church to solemnize nuptials except by special dispensation, during Lent. On ascertaining that Father Fierens denied having united the persons mentioned, in marriage, we took the trouble to consult the records at the county clerk's office to determine whether or not a certificate had been issued The records show that a marriage license had been issued to D P Cresswell and Miss J Slack on the 4th inst. but the return certificate required by law had not been made, it was impossible to ascertain who had married the couple. Whether the name of Father Fierens was given through inadvertence or with the intention to mislead the public, we do not assume to affirm. The above statement of the facts is made with the object that justice may be done all parties concerned

[illegible] VISIT PORTLAND —Mr Denman Thompson, supported by a large and efficient company, has been playing several weeks in San Francisco. His engagement has been a very successful one, large audiences attending nightly the performances. Mr. Thompson is starring in a piece called "Joshua Whitcomb" wherein he personates the character of an old Yankee farmer. The piece is spoken of in terms of praise, not only by the press of California, but also in many of the leading eastern journals. Many of the papers affirm that, as a faithful delineator of eccentric Yankee character, Mr. Thompson is much superior to John E Owens. We understand that Mr. Thompson is thinking favorably of making a professional visit to Portland at the termination of his engagement in San Francisco. He is supported by his own company consisting of sixteen persons Theater goers will be gratified to learn of Mr. Thompson s probable intention to visit this city If proper inducements are held out he may so conclude. He is said to be a genial gentleman and finished actor, and will no doubt please the lovers of drama here

A WAYWARD GIRL.—A young girl about 15 years of age was found wandering about the streets Monday evening, and was taken in charge by the police, and conducted to the station. The girl had been employed in a very respectable family in this city until quite recently, when she was dismissed for conducting herself in a somewhat wayward manner. She went to a certain hotel, but the proprietor, on learning of the circumstances of the case, refused to admit her After being turned away from the hotel, the girl wandered about the streets until taken in charge by an officer. Lodging was furnished her at the station, and yesterday morning she was provided with temporary quarters We are informed that the parents of this foolish young woman reside in Yamhill county They have been informed by the chief of the course of their daughter, and will no doubt send for her at once. Names of parties are suppressed for obvious reasons

MILWAUKIE'S OAK GROVE —Mr Kaiser of the City View Farm, is now making some important improvements to the Willamette Oak Grove, a very handsome picnic ground situated a short distance above this city. Among other improvements, the dancing platform will be relaid, enlarged and covered with canvas, a number of swings will be put up through the grove, and parallel bars and other gymnastic apparatus erected It is Mr Kaiser's intention to make these grounds very handsome, attractive and desirable as a place for holding excursions and picnics from this city. No pains will be spared in improving and beautifying the grove. During the coming picnic season these grounds promise to become a very popular resort

[illegible] THE PLAZA.—The public squares in front of the court house, where the youth and beauty and fashion of Portland were wont to pass the time away on fine summer evenings, in the halcyon days when the 14th Infantry Band and the old 23d discoursed sweet music to the gay promenaders, now lie silent and deserted. The grass grows just as green and the ornamental trees have grown tall and beautiful, but the music is no more and hence few enjoy these attractions There was some talk of reviving the old custom, one of the bands having volunteered to play, but as yet the time has not been announced

[illegible] NARROW ESCAPE.—A correspondent writing to the Telegram from St Johns says "Last Thursday the cooper shop belonging to the Oregon Barrel Factory was discovered to be on fire, but the flames were extinguished before any material damage was done John Tonny had the misfortune however to meet with a severe accident during the excitement. In attempting to ascend to the roof of the building he placed his foot through a broken window sash and cut it so severely that he has not been able to walk without assistance since it happened

PRESENTATION —Just before Mr Simon Harris, the clever musician, left on the steamer Idaho, he was presented with a very handsome album containing the photographs of all the members of the Portland Amateur Society The gift was purchased by the various members of the society and was presented by Mr Charles Hegele in behalf of the society Mr Hegele made a very neat and appropriate presentation speech, which was fittingly and feelingly responded to by Mr Harris.

THE BENEVOLENCE —After the supper was over which was given Monday evening by Samaritan Lodge I O O F it was found that a large quantity of food remained unconsumed Yesterday morning the committee hired an express wagon and taking the surplus edibles distributed them equally among a number of poor families in the city A quantity was also donated to the Home This was an act of true charity

NEW BRICK BUILDINGS The old rickety shanties which have so long disfigured the block on the east side of First street between Morrison and Yamhill are being removed and their places are to be filled with a row of two story bricks All but two of the proprietors have signified their intention to rebuild and it is thought their buildings will go to pieces when the others are removed

COMPETITIVE EXAMINATION.—This morning at 10 o clock the committee appointed to conduct the competitive examination of applicants for appointment to the military academy at West Point will meet at Capt R H Lamson s office in the postoffice building All applicants are expected to report in person to the committee at the hour designated

HELD TO ANSWER —Ah Bang, the celestial who was arrested Monday charged with the larceny of $60 from a French courtesan had a preliminary examination yesterday and was held to await the action of the grand jury His bond was fixed at $400 and on furnishing the required bail Ah Bang was released from custody

AT VALPARAISO —Mr John D Biles received the following dispatch yesterday from Henry Villard dated New York April 8th The steamship Oregon reached Valparaiso on the 27th of March She sailed on the 30th The steamer Oregon will be due here the last of the present month

THE SHUBRICK —In a few days the lighthouse tender Shubrick is expected to arrive in the river to report to Capt Merriman inspector of this lighthouse district After examining the buoys along the river the Shubrick will visit the various light stations along the northern coast

NIGHT TRIPS —Knott Bros have fixed a time table for night trips of the Stark street ferry after 8 o'clock as follows Leave Stark street at 8 8 30 9 9 30 and 10 o clock leave East Portland 8 15 8 45 9 15 9 45 and 10 15 o clock The traveling public will bear this change in mind

DOING WELL —About a week ago Elmer McGregor was thrown from his horse and had his collar bone fractured besides sustaining other injuries of a less severe nature He is now in this city receiving surgical treatment and doing very well

BOARD OF TRADE —There will be a regular meeting of the Board of Trade this (Wednesday) evening at the rooms at 7 30 o clock Important business is on the tapis and a full attendance is desired

CONTINUED —In police court yesterday the case of State vs Chinaman Bee, who was arrested Monday was called up for examination However the case was continued until to day

PIANO AT AUCTION —Messrs Creighton & Stearns will sell this morning at 10 o clock a fine solid rosewood cased piano Those in want of a good instrument should attend the sale

A RIVAL TO THE SEA-SERPENT

[From the N Y Tribune]

The sea serpent has a rival It is a land animal an animal as large as fantastic and as elusive as the celebrated monster of the sea—and at least twice as mysterious

The minhocao is the new wonder A very slight change in his name might have prejudiced the world against it—as for instance if it had been baptized minhocaxo It is well fitted in the realm of science being brought to notice by one Fritz Muller of Brazil in the Zoologische Garten and receiving a full page of large type in a recent number of Nature [illegible] The minhocao is said to exist in the southern [illegible] of the region of South America where the Uruguay and Parana rivers have their sources The animal is said by different observers to have the following characteristics It is worm shaped about eighty two feet long, [illegible] and more than a yard in thickness not very long however according to another account [illegible] the head a snout like a pig's a less definite description makes the animal as big as a horse and measurement of the tracks indicates its possible width at six and a half to ten feet Some years ago it is said there was a dead minhocao wedged in the cleft of a rock near Arapehy Uruguay its skin was as thick as the bark of a pine tree and formed of hard scales like those of the armadillo

The new animal is however chiefly known by his works Great trenches are found in this region which are supposed to be the evidence of the minhocao s industry Heaps of earth are turned up in the process and where pine trees stand in the way of the trench they are rooted up and sometimes part of their bark and wood may be torn off The devastation of this performance which is chiefly near or under the surface of the earth though often under the bed of a stream is enormous In one case the entire side of a hill was undermined it is supposed by two of these animals and was traversed by deep trenches By such proceedings marshes have been drained or dry land converted into morass and the courses of streams entirely changed Some of the trenches are spoken of as being from three fourths of a mile to a mile in length They are excavated with great rapidity

It will be noticed that the new aspirant for fame has been almost as little seen as the sea serpent The subterranean monster is simply more fortunate than the submarine in leaving more palpable traces than a wake of foam We may expect soon to hear of a scientific expedition to Uruguay in search of the minhocao Whether it will be found like a ceratodus or a lepidosiren or a glyptodont it is yet too soon to guess possibly when unearthed it will be recognized as the descendant of one of the gigantic armadillos that certainly dwelt in South America during the reptilian age of geology

The Tender Hearted Indian Agent

[From the Washington Post]

There is something deeply touching—almost inexpressibly affecting—in the sad eye and quavering voice of a pious Indian agent as he speaks of the manifold afflictions that must inevitably fall on the poor persecuted red men the simple sons of the forest in case the Indian bureau is transferred to the war department Such disinterested benevolence is a credit to human nature Cold and heartless as the world is it is still the abode of men who can weep for others woes

Swamp Lands and the Governorship.

MEEGANSER, Lake Co., Or., March 25, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As C. C. Beekman is mentioned as a probable Republican candidate for governor, space is asked in your columns for a view of the situation in Lake county.

Swamp land matters being paramount with citizens universally, it is not unreasonable to suppose that settlers will favor their own interest at the ballot box next June.

Mr. Beekman has been speculating quite extensively in swamp land bonds and it is generally understood that he owns quite a large tract of swamp land, and the settlers here consider him their enemy. Many of the citizens of this county are of the same opinion of your correspondent—i. e. they expect to support the candidate whose interests are identical with theirs, regardless of political color. Knowing that a candidate's personal financial interests are in unison with the swindling swamp land ring and that the ring depends upon the governor for its main support, it is safe to say that Lake county will not support any such man for that office.

A REPUBLICAN SETTLER.

Mackay, the California millionaire, came to this country a poor Irish boy. Stewart, the New York millionaire, came to this country a poor Irish boy. We might give other illustrations, but these two are sufficient to show that our struggling American youth made a great mistake by not coming to this country poor Irish boys.—Norristown Herald.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

TUESDAY EVENING, April 9, 1878.

Gold in New York, 101.

Legal tenders in Portland—buying 98½; selling, 99¼.

Silver coin, 2@2½ per cent. discount.

The week so far has presented no new features in financial matters, rates both at the banks and with outside parties being steadily maintained under a very considerably increased demand for trade purposes as well as for investment in real estate, local improvements, etc.

Another slight upward movement in the value of silver is noted to-day, and in some instances we hear of sums considerable above the legal tender limit being taken at 1@2 per cent. discount. This is not the rule, however, as yet. The approximation of the three several kinds of currency, imposed upon the business men of the country by the wisdom of congress, towards each other in value, is regarded as a gratifying sign of the return of confidence in ultimate honesty of the people who will see that the government carries out their wishes. Mail and telegraphic advices from San Francisco indicate but little change in the Bay City, except the fact that merchants, as a general rule, are doing a largely increased business, and wear a much more cheerful look as they greet their customers who are now numerous. Among these customers a large number are said to be from Oregon and Washington territory and Idaho. While this is true in trade circles there, the money market is reported dull with but little inclination on the part of banks and capitalists holding large sums of money to put it into circulation.

Attention has been called to the agreement by all the leading wholesale houses in the city naming the 2d of the month as a day of settlement of all transactions of the previous month.

Domestic Produce.

In this department of trade we note a moderate degree of activity, but no change in prices of importance. Receipts are much diminished in volume, a fact attributable in part to the very busy state of farmer's home work, and that the surplus of last year's crops has in case of many commodities been well nigh exhausted. The breadstuffs market continues in the same unsettled and uncertain condition as before, the "bulls," which generally includes the holders, believing that Europe will go to war and the bears, comprised of would-be buyers, arguing that the Anglo-Russian dispute will be settled without a resort to arms. So far, it is difficult to determine from the character of the dispatches which reach us, which side has the advantage. At any rate, both sides are too confident to allow a compromise at present, and important transactions, especially in wheat, are very rare. Flour is moving rather more freely in the way of local trade, and shipments to San Francisco. Other products steady at former quotations.

Real Estate.

The market for real estate continues quite active and we hear of some important transactions of which no record notice has yet been given. Since our last report, deeds of the date named, have been filed as follows:

May 15, 1869—United States to S. W. Fisher, lot 5, sec. 12, T 1 N, R 2 E.

May 2, 1870—United States to S. W. Fisher, W ½ of N W ¼ sec 13, T 1 N, R 2 E.

April 2, 1878—E ½ of lot 5, block B, South Portland Real Estate Association—$5.

March 18, 1878—W ½ of lots 5 and 6, block 190, East Portland—$150.

April 3, 1878—W ½ of lots 5 and 6, block 190, East Portland—$150.

March 23, 1878—lots 5 and 8, block 242, Couch's Addition—$750.

Feb. 22, 1878—4 37 100 acres, J. B. Stephen's land claim—$3,000.

April 5, 1878—lot 5, block 123, Portland—$1,000.

April 5, 1878—10 acres in sec 5, T 1 S, R 2 E, being part of Perry Prettyman's donation land claim—$2,000.

March 26, 1878—The N W part of Thos. G. Robinson's donation land claim in sec 4, T 1 S, R 1 E—$1.

April 6, 1878—lots 7 and 8, block 93, East Portland—$400.

Jan. 18, 1878—E ½ of block 157, being lots 1, 4, 5 and 8 of said block, in Couch's Addition—$1.

April 18, 1878—lot 4, block 227, Portland—$1,500.

Jan 25, 1877—N W ¼ of sec 23, T 1 N, R 4 E, school land—$320 currency.

April 3, 1878—lot 10, block 2, Johnson's Addition—$450.

MORTGAGES, ETC.

Mortgages have been filed for the amounts and terms named:

$800, for 12 months, at 1 per cent.
$1,000, for 12 months, 1 per cent.
$250, for 1 year, 12 per cent.
$200, for 6 months, at 1 per cent per month.
$750, payable June 1, 1880, at 10 per cent per annum.
$100, for 1 year, at 1 per cent.
$650, for 2 years, at 1 per cent.
$450, for 2 years, at 1 per cent.

Of date Jan. 28, 1878, A. M. Thompson binds himself in the sum of $700, that if Jno. Sleight pays him $710 in installments, he (Thompson) will convey to Sleight lot 10, block 2, Johnson's addition.

Of date Jan. 25, 1878, W. Koehler leases to Chas. Weinberger 10 acres fronting on the Powell valley road, in school district 2, East Portland, for 5 years from Jan. 1, 1878; 1st year $50, 2d year $60, 3d, 4th and 5th years $100.

Of date Feb. 26, 1877, Sarah Jane MacNamara authorizes J. Allen Macrum to satisfy all mortgages, real and chattel, which she owns or may become possessed of, to sell mortgages, to sell realty and execute deeds therefor, collect debts, enter suits, &c.

English Crops and Markets.

LONDON, April 9.—The Mark Lane Express says wheat is looking well. It has apparently suffered only a temporary check from the recent severe weather. Deliveries of English wheat at Mark Lane and in the provinces have been very moderate, as growers who could afford to hold their stocks have done so, in the hope of realizing a further advance should the country become involved in war. As it is prices rallied from 2s to 3s per quarter for English wheat from the recent lowest point. The uncertainty of politics caused millers to follow the rise with reluctance. American wheat is coming freely; still the trade finds sufficient support in the disquieting political rumors to prevent prices giving way under the weight of supplies. Monday's business was fairly active, but although a sufficiently strong tone has prevailed, the number of sales made since has been decidedly limited. Some exception may be made in favor of Calcutta wheat which was in better demand than other varieties, owing to the scarcity of good qualities on the spot, and the impossibility of stocks being replenished for some time, under which circumstances prices may be noted a shilling per quarter dearer. Increased strength has been afforded by the continental demand which has continued throughout the week. A considerable quantity of Indian and Russian wheat was taken for French and Belgian account.

New York Markets.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Flour is dull in the absence of export demand, at 10@15c off an average on all grades, and to force sales more concessions would be necessary. Wheat is dull, all grades 2c lower. Hides quiet and lower; sales of 45,000 California private; quoted 19½@20.

Liverpool Markets.

LIVERPOOL, April 8.—Breadstuffs dull; wheat 11s @11s 5d for average California white, 11s 5d@12s 2d for California club.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder, from San Francisco, is about due at this port.

The barkentine Tam O'Shanter, lumber laden, from Knappton, went to sea yesterday, as did also the Mattie Macleay, for Honolulu, the North Bend for San Francisco, and the bark Blenheim, with wheat, for Dunkirk, on Saturday.

The brig Orient, for San Francisco, went to sea yesterday.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL
Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

DR. BRENAN has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

DR. BRENAN will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them: they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door, Room No. 7, Corbett's Block, over O'Connor's Store, corner of Front and Washington streets.

Valuable Property

GENERAL NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.

Albany City Election.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 10.—Michael N. Nolan, Dem., was elected mayor by a plurality of over 1,000. The workingmen's candidate ran nearly as high as the Republican candidate.

Loved too Much.

BIDDEFORD, Me., April 9.—Frederick Savage, a Frenchman, to-day murdered Rose Vincent, of Methune, Mass., by throwing her into the river. When arrested, his explanation was, "O, I loved her too much." He is married and has children.

Sherman and Resumption.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Secretary Sherman made a visit to-day to the First National Bank, where he discussed the condition of the bond market with especial reference to the 4 per cents. He said he would be able to resume specie payments at the date fixed by law, and he expressed a desire that the banks of the principal cities should aid him in every reasonable way. A conference was held with a few presidents of leading national banks of this city in the Bank of Commerce. Secrecy was enjoined upon all who were present. Secretary Sherman declined to impart any information, saying that no conclusion had been reached, and that when something of a definite character was accomplished he would make known the result.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Secretary Sherman made the sub-treasury office his headquarters to-day, where he was called upon by financial men. He had no formal conference with the representatives of the national banks and banking firms. The secretary, said a leading banker to-day, came here for the purpose of securing aid from the banks in the resumption of specie payment, and not to be dictated to or advised as to his precise plans. He stated to officers of national banks that he required $140,000,000 in gold to resume specie payments on January 1st; that he had on hand about $90,000,000, and desired the banks, if they were willing to assist him, to subscribe for $50,000,000 in bonds, which would make up the full amount. He also expressed his willingness to dispose of a hundred million 4 per cent. bonds at par with a commission of a quarter per cent. After general discussion which was not favorable to the proposition in regard to the four per cent. bonds, Secretary Sherman made an offer to dispose of fifty million 4½ per cents, and requested the banks and bankers to submit a proposition to him for the full amount or any fractional part thereof. It is understood that the national bank presidents held a secret meeting last Tuesday night to consider the proposition of Secretary Sherman. His proposition that the banks should subscribe for four per cents was voted down.

The Financial Conference.

NEW YORK, April 10.—In regard to Secretary Sherman's conference with the bankers at the sub-treasury to-day no definite information could be obtained. It was rumored that the bankers had agreed to take a portion of the new 4 per cent. loan on condition that the Secretary would not remove the gold from the sub-treasury. Secretary Sherman, when asked about the matter, simply requested to be excused from being interviewed.

A Bayard Taylor Dinner.

Whitelaw Reid, of the Tribune, gave a farewell dinner to Bayard Taylor this evening, at Union League club, and to-morrow Mr. Taylor sails for Plymouth, whence he proceeds to Berlin via Paris.

The "Boss" in a Sad State.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Dr. Carnochan says Tweed has a complication of disorders likely to lead to a fatal termination. Others say it would be better to imprison him for life than to keep him oscillating between hope and despair.

Huge Defalcation.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 10.—S. Angier Chase, treasurer of Union Mills, is said to be a defaulter for $480,000.

A Further Account.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 10.—Union mills have been attached by Henry T. Pearse, private banker of Providence. Chase, treasurer, in a letter to the directors acknowledges $480,000 defalcation. The paper of the Five Cent Savings Bank, of this city, of which Chase is president, is said to be secured, but they are exacting 60 days' notice from depositors.

Wesley Says Women Mustn't Preach.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Bishop Andrews, of the New York Methodist conference, has decided that licensing of women as preachers is against the doctrines of Wesley. Disappointed advocates of the new departure have taken an appeal to the general conference of Methodists of the whole country in 1880.

Sad Case of Drowning.

OMAHA, April 10.—Seven young men from Glenwood, Iowa, went out hunting yesterday below Omaha. Three of them were drowned in the Missouri river by the upsetting of the boat. Their names were Charles R. Mershon, Wm. Miller and J. M. Smith. Mershon leaves a wife and three children.

Discovery of Gold.

DEADWOOD, D. T., April 10.—Considerable excitement is caused by an assay of $330 gold per ton obtained from quartz which was taken from a mine in Whitewood gulch, a mile from Deadwood. This vicinity has heretofore been little prospected.

Death of Major Welch.

Major E. Welch, formerly post trader at Fort McPherson, died here yesterday.

Absconded with $70,000.

DENVER, Col., April 10.—It is announced here that H. A. McIntyre, president of the First National Bank of Colorado Springs, has absconded with $70,000. The first disclosures were made quite recently, showing that McIntyre had in the interim following the death of the late president of the Bank of Colorado Springs, and before the vacancy was supplied, secured from deposits of the bank between $30,000 and $40,000. In addition to this he has hypothecated stock of the two banks with which he was connected amounting to $25,000. It is feared the effect upon the Lake City Bank will be irreparable.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Long but Unimportant.

LONDON, April 9.—The debate preceding the vote on the address in the house of commons was long but unimportant.

Items from Paris.

PARIS, April 11.—An unconfirmed rumor is current that ex Marshal Bazaine is dead. The Moniteur acknowledges that General Borel, minister of war, encounters so much opposition from the left that he may be obliged to resign.

Cost of Ocean Transportation.

(From the New York Tribune.)

Improvements in the capacity of steamships, and in the construction of their machinery, have diminished the cost of carrying cargoes to a greater extent than is commonly supposed. A comparison has been recently made between two Atlantic steamers, one of the year 1840, the other of to-day. The modern steamship carries fifteen times as much freight as the old one did at nearly twice the speed; the consumption of coal per ton of cargo transported is less nearly eleven times as great as formerly. The reduction in the cost of freight and passage across the Atlantic is scarcely as great as the diminution of cost would justify.

A Texas newspaper says the begun out of his horse; the head and cut by his horse, there

Wood, near New Haven, became known because his owner wrote the book is elegantly written at work on a history of Venice.
